In 2016, Old Town School of Folk Music began implementation of its newly adopted Strategic Plan, calling for access, inspiration and engagement of communities across Chicago. Our educational programs and concert offerings at Lincoln Square continue to provide a steady anchor and stable financial base of our operations. This has allowed the School the resources to create new initiatives serving neighborhoods throughout the city. The 77 Beats featured pop-up concerts featuring the unique music and cuisine of all of Chicago’s designated neighborhoods. Our Arts & Community Wellness project in Englewood is building a neighborhood-wide consortium of health, human service and community development providers, using music as a catalyst for community engagement and transformation. And the School’s leadership in Enrich Chicago is addressing longstanding issues of cultural inequity that hamper our field.

None of this would be a reality without the generous support of our donors, the dedication of our exceptional teaching artists and administrative staff, a strong board of directors, and a community of learners and music aficionados who are central to all that we are able to accomplish. Your support is, as always, deeply appreciated.
Celebrating its 60th year of service to Chicago in 2017, Old Town School of Folk Music is the largest community school of the arts in the nation. Celebrating music and cultural expressions rooted in the traditions of American global communities, each year the School offers a wide array of music, dance, and visual arts courses. In fact, nearly 15,000 unique students choose from more than 3,600 accredited classes and 6,500 private lessons in our catalog. This includes infants in our trademarked Wiggleworms early-childhood music programs and adolescents and adults building their creative lives through music and dance. We also serve infants and toddlers in Lawndale, children grades 3-8 in a variety of Chicago Public Schools, incarcerated teens at the Cook County Juvenile Temporary Detention Center, and adolescent and young adults in the south side Englewood neighborhood. To make our programs accessible to as many people as possible, the School annually provides over $200,000 in financial aid to help children and adults alike enrich their lives through classes in music, dance and the arts.

Additionally, our 350+ annual concert and event schedule entertains and enlightens over 100,000, and highlights the talents of big name acts and master musicians from more than 50 countries, with many events produced in partnership with a wide diversity other community groups.

The Old Town School owns and operates two campuses situated in Lincoln Square and Lincoln Park, which include the 400-seat Gary & Laura Maurer Concert Hall and 150-seat Myron R. Szold Hall, along with classrooms, two music stores and cafes, as well as a resource center which houses over 20,000 recordings, books and other archived collections. More than 300 teachers and staff, 3,000 members, and over 400 volunteers aid in the effort at these locations. Square Roots, the annual music and craft beer festival produced by the School in partnership with the Lincoln Square Ravenswood Chamber of Commerce, brings in diverse musical acts, craft beer aficionados and music lovers from all over Chicago and the Midwest. As the economic engine of its neighborhoods, and the largest employer of the 47th Ward, Old Town School of Folk Music routinely proves that the words “folk music” includes a whole world of cultural expression — one that lives right here in Chicago.

OUTREACH PROGRAMS

Guitars for Growth

Our Guitars For Growth program provides music instruction in electric guitar and bass to 450 incarcerated youth at the Cook County Juvenile Temporary Detention Center. This program seeks to empower students by cultivating musical literacy, historical and creative understanding, and emotional awareness and stewardship.

Artist Engagement Services

Artist Engagement Services provided performing and teaching artists for more than 600 concerts, classes and workshops at both public and private events. Highlights include our participation in:

- Exceptional Wiggleworms at National Lekotek Center
- Chicago Park District’s Toddlers, Tunes, & Turtles events at parks citywide
- Concerts in the Park at the Welles Park Gazebo and Polar Adventure Days on Northerly Island
- Lincoln Park Zoo’s Locally Sourced and Friday Summer Sounds concert series
- Wiggleworms in Millennium Park’s Family Fun Tent all summer long
- Northbrook Public Library’s Family Concert Series
- Assemblies at Ferst, a therapeutic day school, supporting students aged 7- to 21-years with diagnoses ranging from autism and intellectual disabilities to physical challenges and emotional disorders.
- Partnership with Erikson Institute, providing professional development workshops for early childhood educators from China
- Professional development training titled Ready to Read: Singing All the Way to Literacy for youth librarians from all over the city via Chicago Public Library
- Provide family music experiences to young parents and children via Christopher House, IL Action for Children, and other social service organizations

- Specialized concert experience for children and families at Chicago Botanic Garden geared toward those with special needs and sensitivities
- Music and Memories, a program of the Jewish United Fund, which brings together families with young children and the elderly for singing and sharing
- Weddings, birthdays, marriage proposals and other private events, where we have the honor of sharing in the milestone moments of so many Chicago families!

Bringing Music to Local Children’s Hospitals

Through generous funding and external partnerships, Old Town School of Folk Music is able to provide musical experiences for children and their families at each of these Chicagoland locations:

- University of Chicago Medicine Comer Children’s Hospital
- Shriners Hospital for Children
- Rush Children’s Hospital
- Ann & Robert H. Lurie Children’s Hospital of Chicago

Our talented teaching artists visit these hospitals approximately 90 times a year, where they play music, sing, and engage children and their families in the restorative power of music. Via this program, Old Town School is honored to provide more than 1,000 people per year with an opportunity that they may not otherwise experience.

Other Youth Outreach Programs

In collaboration with Carnegie Hall, Old Town School facilitated the Lullaby Project with students from Simpson Academy for Young Women, a Chicago Public School serving pregnant and parenting students from 6th through 12th grades. Young mothers worked with professional songwriters to create original lullabies for their babies. This powerful program culminated in a performance on the Old Town School’s stage, with full band accompaniment and recording.

Old Town School continues its long-term partnership with Chicago House, providing out-of-school-time music and enrichment experiences to more than 40 children impacted by HIV/AIDS.

We have expanded our service for children with special needs by providing tailored arts experiences at Beard Elementary School, as well as at long-term partners Stuart G. Ferst School at the Anixter Center and Rush Day School at Rush University.

ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE PROGRAMS

In 2016, more than 4,000 children participated in Artist-in-Residence and Wiggleworms-in-Residence Programs in 19 different Chicago Public Schools and at the Carole Robertson Center for Learning. Additionally, nearly 8,000 children attended our field trip events at Old Town School.

“I really liked seeing how some students who do not typically excel academically were able to shine and build confidence working with the teaching artist.

- Barbara Karrel, classroom teacher, Hibbard Elementary School

“I like how the teaching artists focused on music from different parts of the world that our students had little knowledge of — this fits in very well with our IB programme to help promote globally minded citizens!

- Melissa Cuculich, IB Coordinator, Locke Elementary School
SUMMER CAMPS

In 2016, 210 children from around Chicago attended our various summer camps, including a four-week session and a three-week session of Arts Camp for 4-to-6 year olds, a four-week session and a three-week session of Arts Camp for 7-to-11 years olds, a one-week intensive Fiddle Camp, and Teen Arts Camp, presented as three two-week intensives.
Old Town School of Folk Music believes that all of Chicago’s neighborhoods deserve the many benefits that result from robust arts, education and economic drivers. Our new Arts & Community Wellness Initiative seeks to convene key stakeholders in Chicago’s south side Englewood neighborhood in developing a trauma-informed pedagogy that addresses social change, violence reduction, community development and youth leadership through the arts.

During the summer of 2016, we were excited to pilot our first Englewood-based classes at I Grow Chicago at 64th and Honore, which were followed up with ten weeks of classes in the fall. Working with 17 young people, aged 15-25, the classes focused on hip-hop, songwriting and African drumming, with an emphasis on self-esteem building and conflict resolution.

During 2017, additional partnerships and programming have been established with Ogden Park Fieldhouse and the Live the Spirit Foundation and the School will be convening its first Arts and Community Wellness Summer Institute.
